Palace of Westminster – The center for political life is the place for the Houses of Parliament.

Westminster Hall -- Photography was not allowed beyond the oldest part of the Palace. This Hall was built in 1097 and has served for many ceremonial functions.

ON THIS SPOT, AWAITING SEPULTURE IN WESTMINSTER ABBEY.

THE BODY OF THE RIGHT HONOURABLE WILLIAM EWART GLADSTONE.

It is a rare privilege for a foreign leader to be allowed to address both Houses of Parliament in Westminster Hall: Charles de Gaulle in 1960, Nelson Mandela in 1996, Pope Benedict XVI in 2010, Barack Obama in 2011 and the Burmese Leader in 2012.

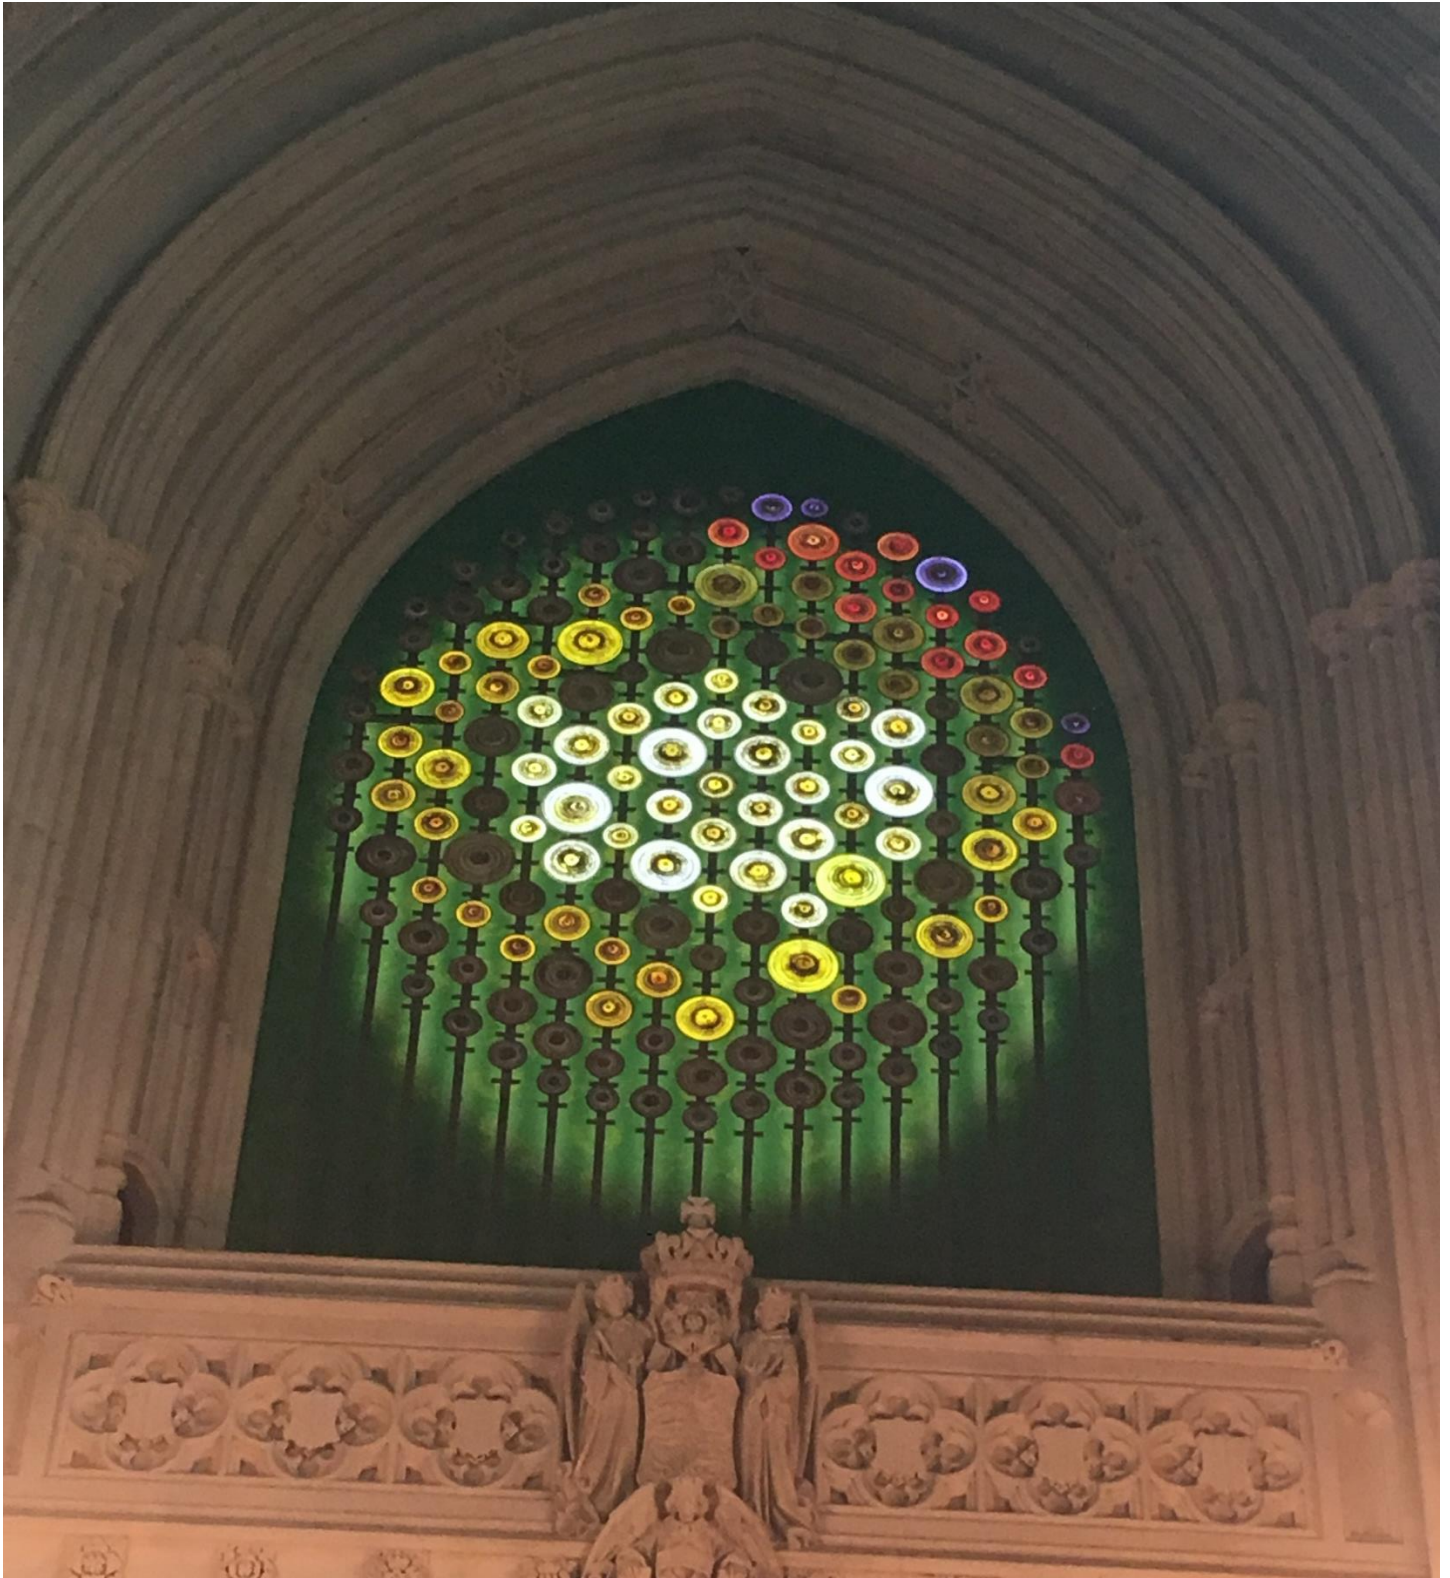

Light Sculpture entitled “New Dawn” located above entrance to St. Stephen’s Hall celebrates all who fought for women’s right to vote. This is the location where suffragettes petitioned Parliament many years ago and were barred from entering any further.

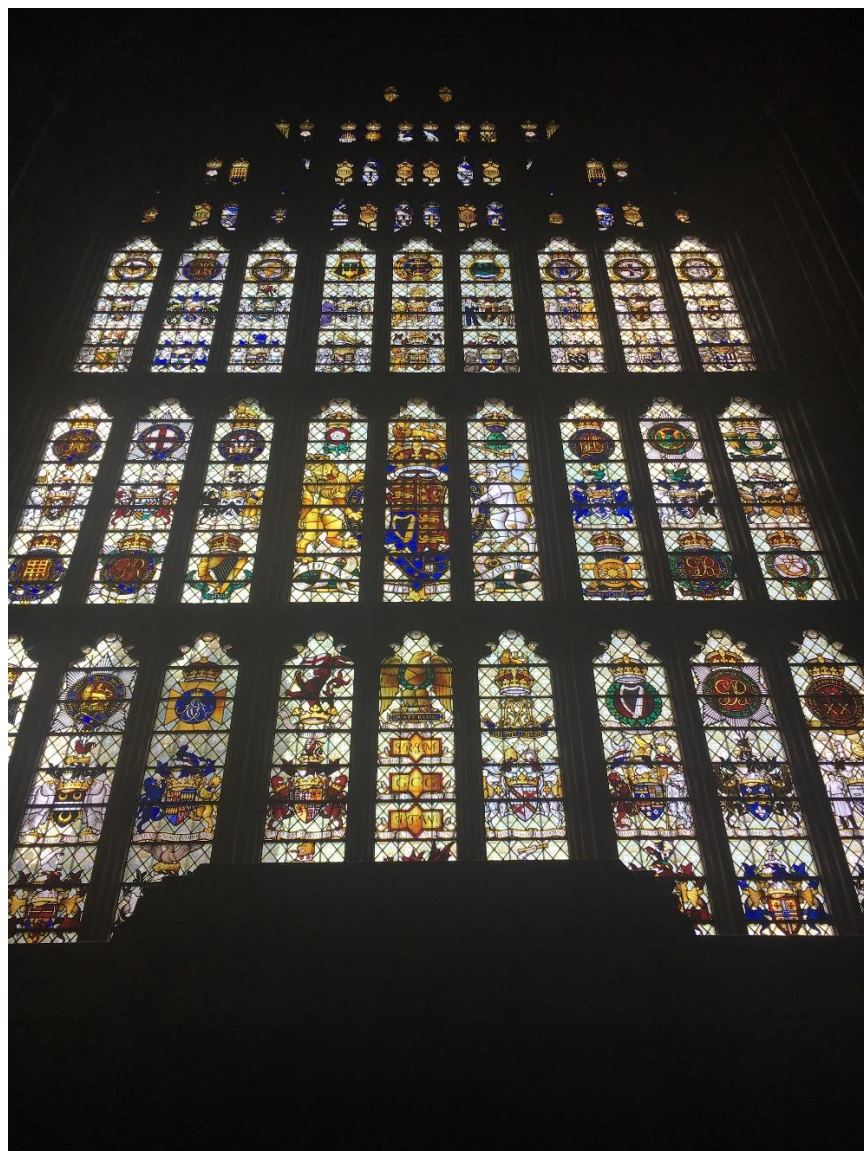

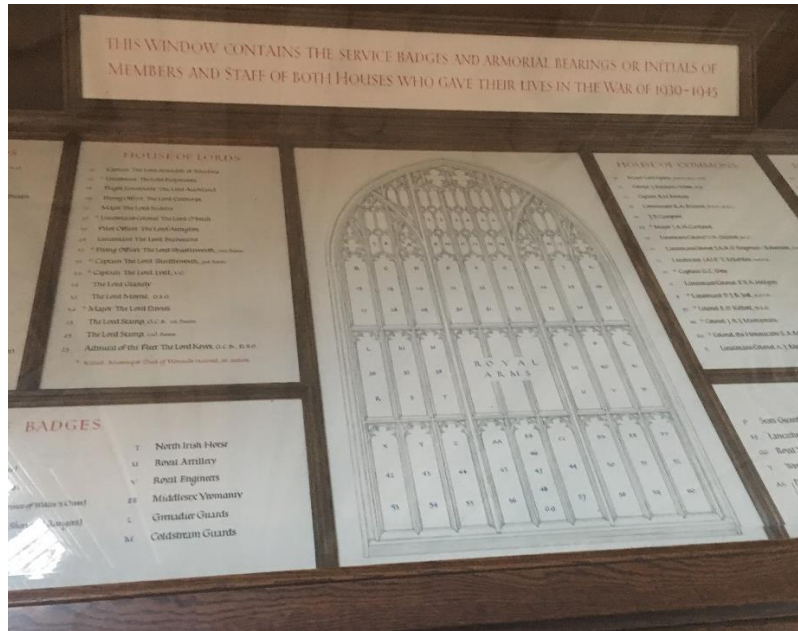

The hand-blown scrolls combine with the rainbow of colors creating a dynamic artwork on a twelve-hour cycle linked to the rise and fall of the tides of the River Thames. Each scroll is individually lit, and the appearance changes every moment.

This Stained Glass Window is the main memorial to those who died in World War II. This window replaced the one destroyed in a bombing raid during the War.

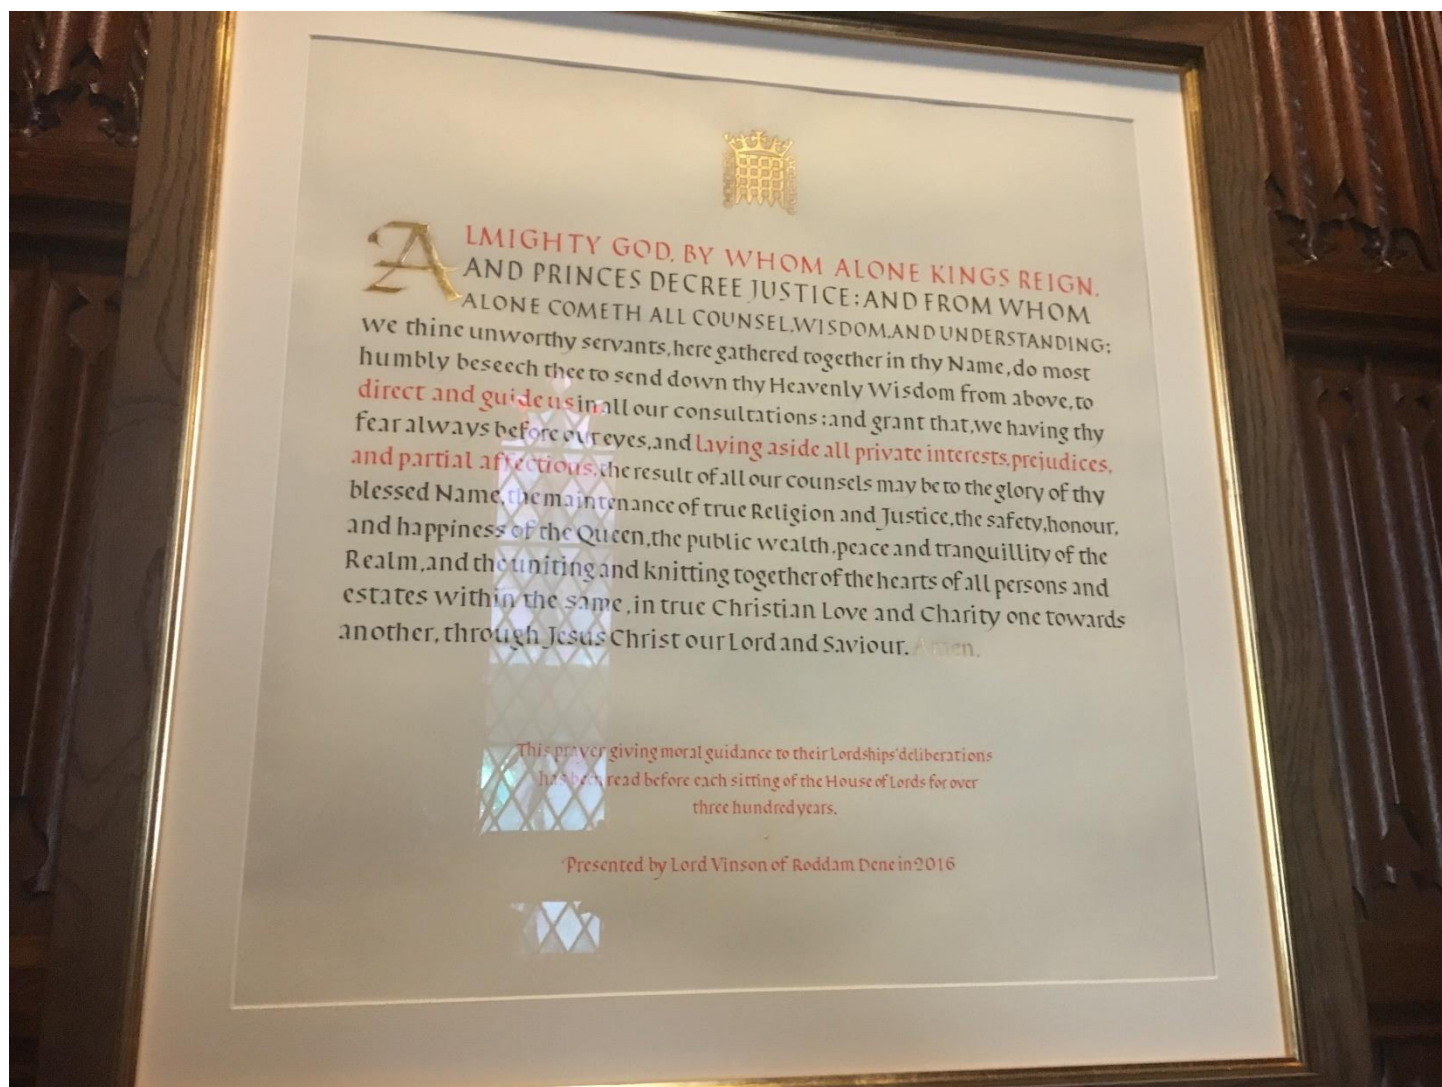

The Sovereign of the UK is Queen Elizabeth II and has ultimate power over all political bodies and territories. The Prime Minister, currently Theresa May, is not elected, but appointed by the Monarch and is typically the leader of the political party that holds the largest number of seats in the chamber. The Houses of Parliament consist of the House of Commons and the House of Lords. The House of Commons is an elected chamber of 650 representatives, called MPs (Members of Parliament), elected at least once every five years. The House of Lords members include the most senior bishops of the Church of England and life or hereditary peers who are appointed. The two Houses meet in separate chambers in the Palace of Westminster.

Before every session, this prayer giving moral guidance to their deliberations has been read before each sitting of the Houses of Parliament for over 300 years.

ALMIGHTY GOD, BY WHOM ALONE KINGS REIGN, AND PRINCES DECREE JUSTICE: AND FROM WHOM ALONE COMETH ALL COUNSEL, WISDOM, AND UNDERSTANDING; we thine unworthy servants, here gathered together in thy Name, do most humbly beseech thee to send down thy Heavenly Wisdom from above, to direct and guide us in all our consultations: and grant that, we having thy fear always before our eyes, and laying aside all private interests, prejudices, and partial affections, the result of all our counsels may be to the glory of thy blessed Name, the maintenance of true Religion and Justice, the safety, honour, and happiness of the Queen, the public wealth, peace and tranquillity of the Realm, and the uniting and knitting together of the hearts of all persons and estates within the same, in true Christian Love and Charity one towards another, through Jesus Christ our Lord and Saviour. Amen.

This prayer giving moral guidance to their Lordships' deliberations has been read before each sitting of the House of Lords for over three hundred years.

Presented by Lord Vinson of Roddam Dene in 2016

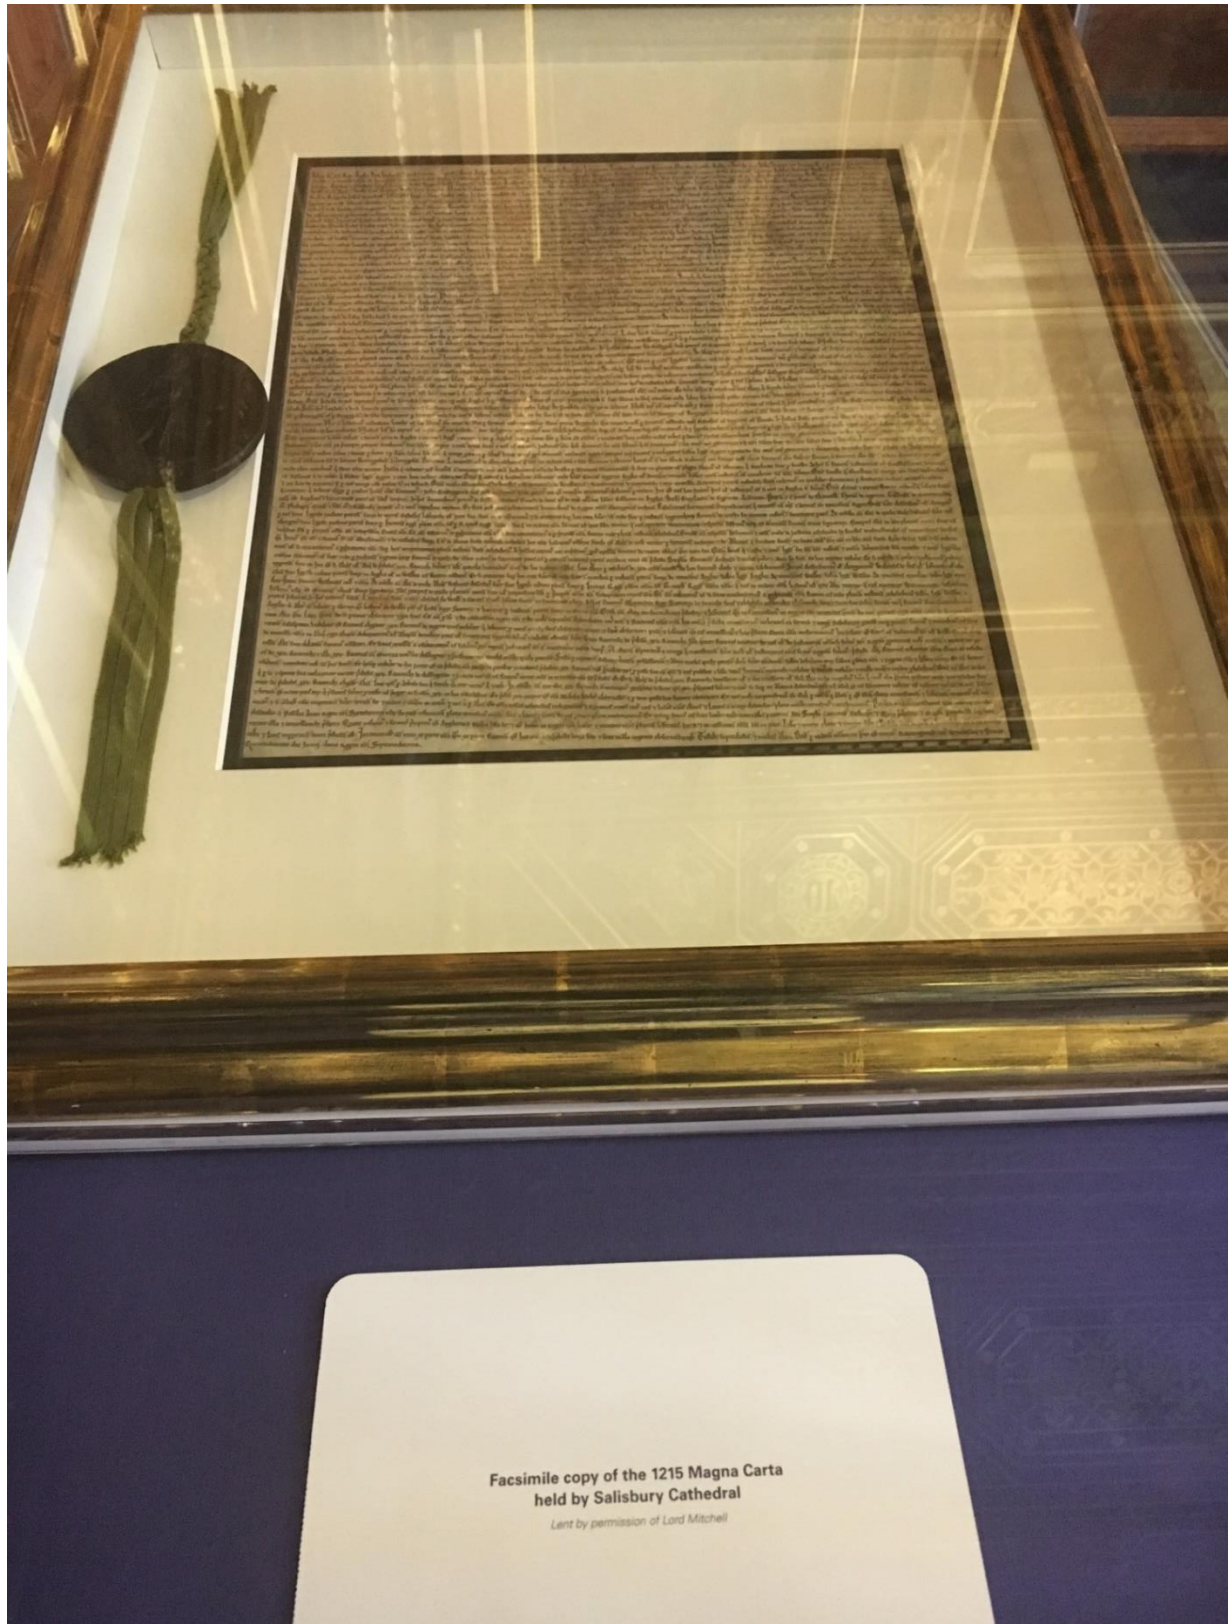

The Robing Room is where the Queen puts on the Imperial State Crown and Official Robes prior to the annual State Opening of Parliament. The Chair of State sits on a dais of three steps, under a canopy adorned with arms and floral emblems of England, Scotland, and Ireland.

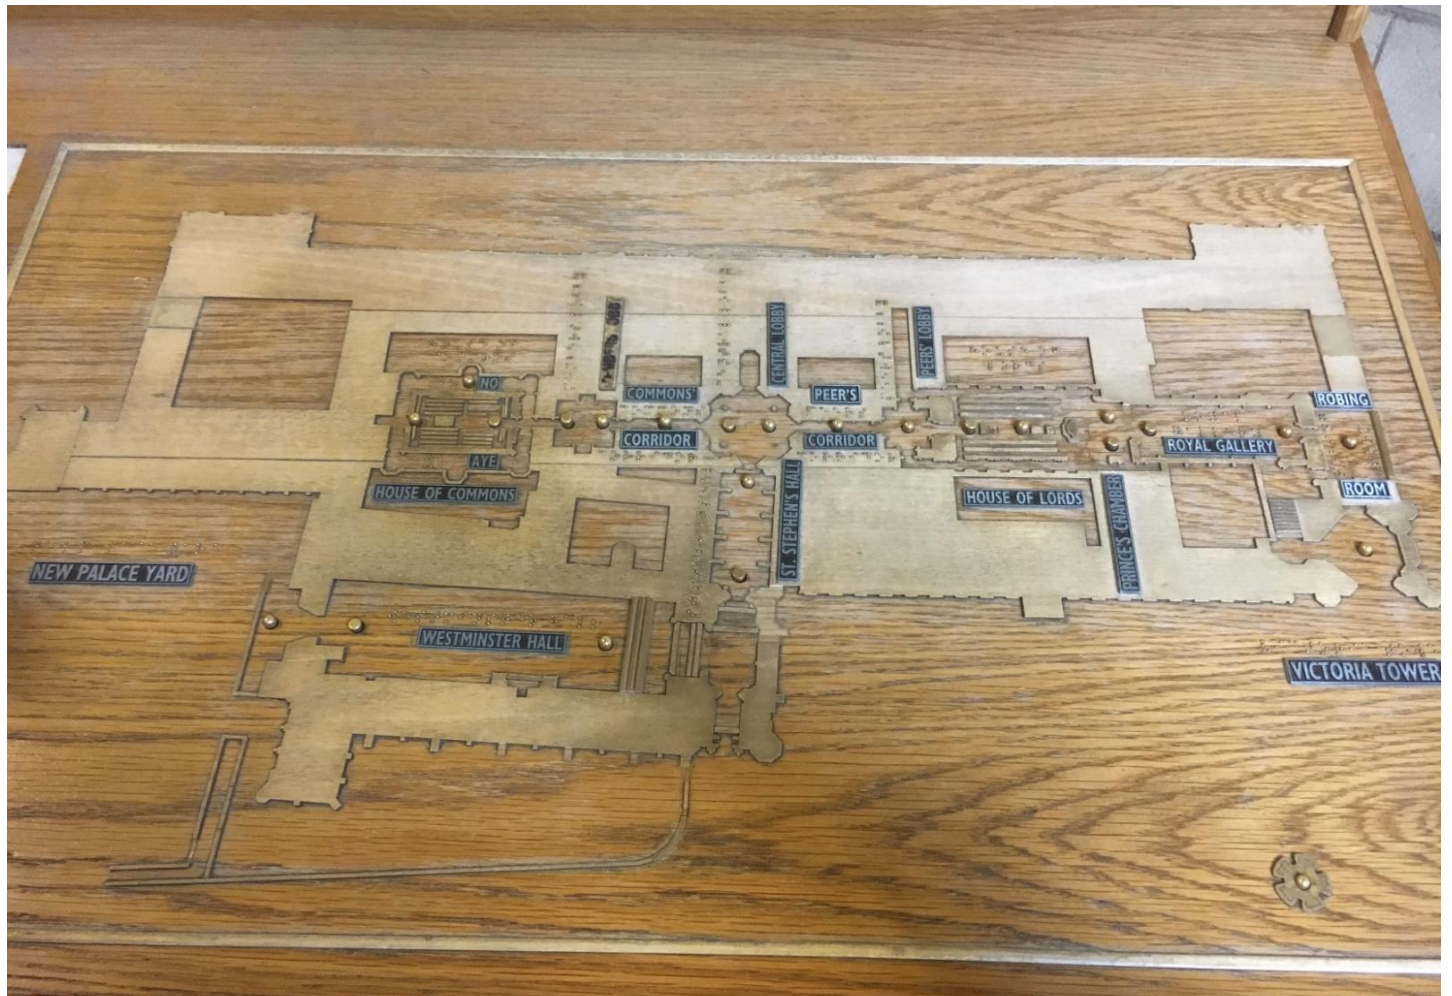

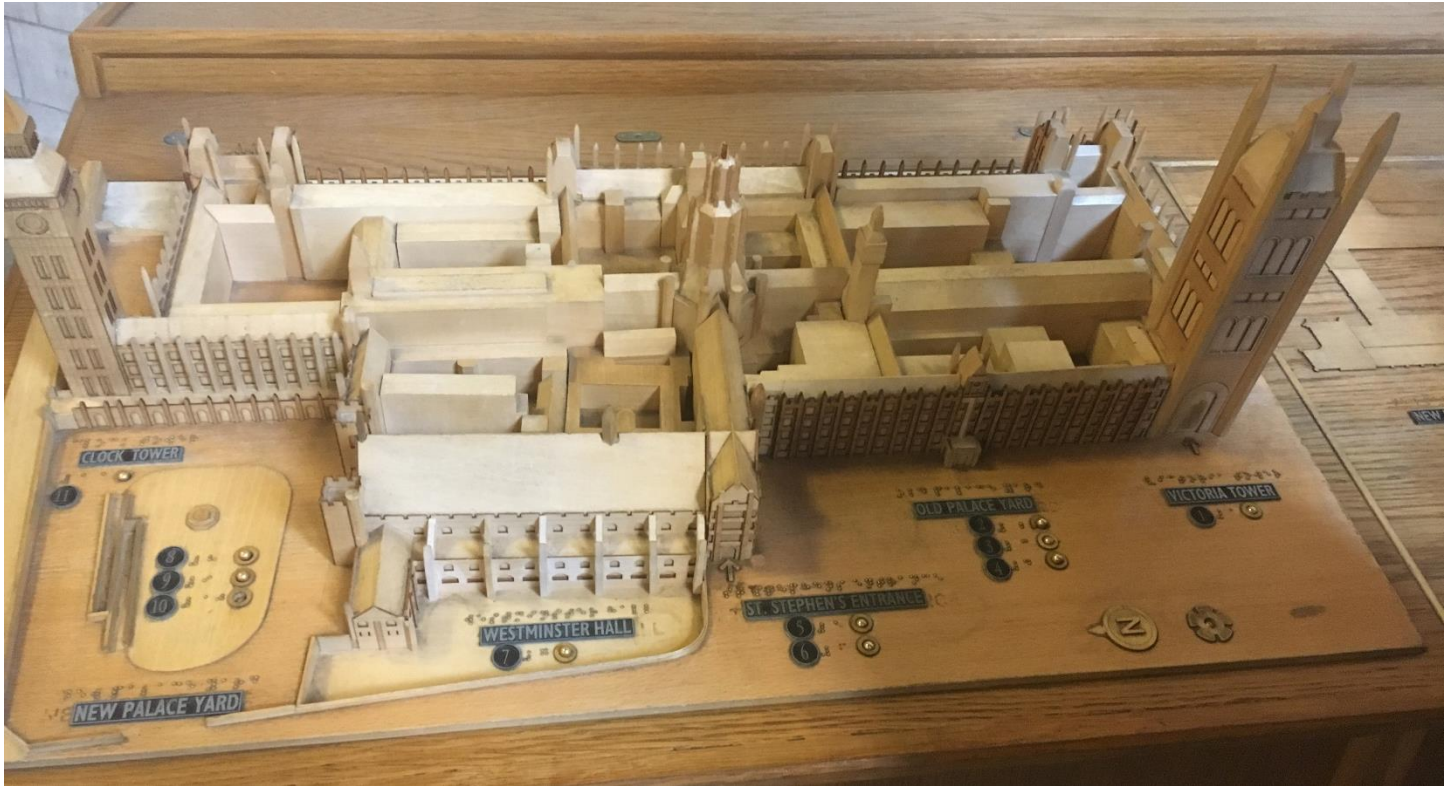

Magna Carta is one of the most famous documents in the world. It was originally issued in June 1215 with principle that the King and his government was not above the law. Although almost all the clauses have since been repealed in modern time, Magna Carta remains a cornerstone of the British constitution. Some of Magna Carta's core principles are echoed in the US Bill of Rights. Like other royal charters, it was authenticated and affixed with the Royal Great Seal made with beeswax attached by light green silk. Only four copies of the agreement remain today. A copy of the original located in Salisbury Cathedral is displayed here in the Houses of Parliament.

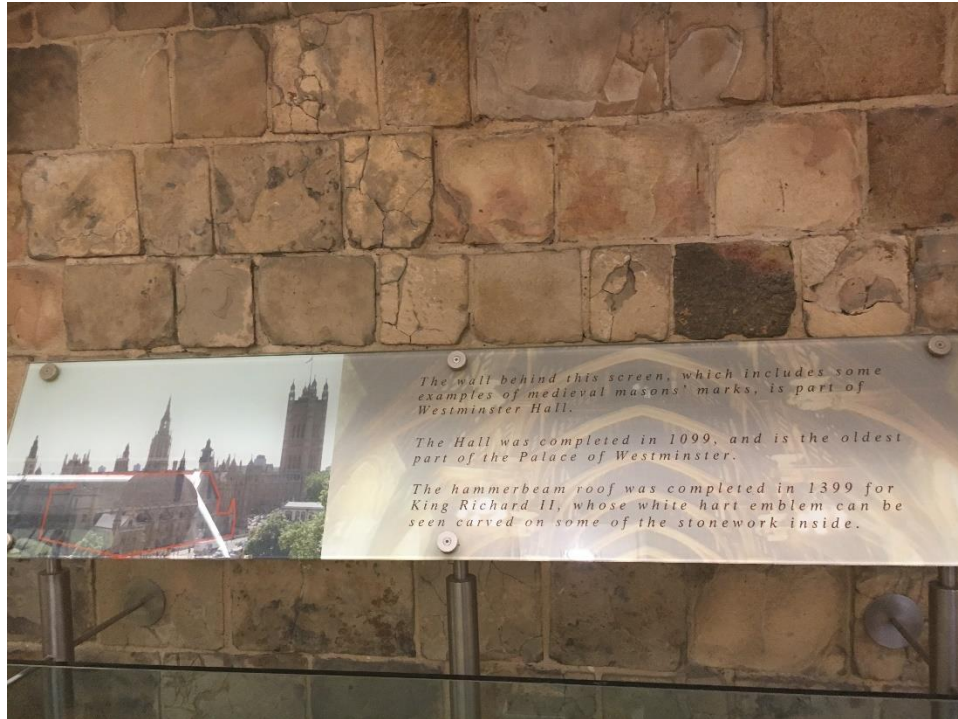

The Palace of Westminster contains over 1,100 rooms, 100 staircases and 3 miles of passageways spread over four floors.

Westminster Hall was completed in 1099 and is the oldest part of the Palace of Westminster. The stone wall includes examples of medieval masons' marks.

Cruising on the River Thames – At 215 miles, it is the longest river entirely in England.

London's Shard of Glass, a 95 story skyscraper, is the tallest building in the UK and is 95% owned by the State of Qatar.

Iconic Photo of Tower Bridge with Red Double Decker Bus – Often mistaken for London Bridge, the next bridge upstream. In 1968, a US man bought the old London Bridge believing he was in fact buying Tower Bridge is now located in Lake Havasu City, Arizona. We were lucky to take this photo with a famous Red Double Decker Bus crossing the bridge.

Tower of London from River Thames – This historic castle was founded in 1066 as part of the Norman Conquest of England and home to the Crown Jewels of England since 1669. The Tower of London has played a prominent role in English History. It was used as a prison from 1100 to 1952, although that was not its primary purpose. The phrase, “Sent to the Tower” comes from here since its reputation as a place of torture and death.

Great Fire of London Monument – A permanent reminder of the Great Fire of 1666 built to celebrate the rebuilding of the city. The Great Fire began in a baker's house and was finally extinguished three days later after destroying the greater part of the city. The only buildings to survive in part were those built of stone. The Monument is 202 feet tall, the exact distance between it and where the fire began. There is a viewing platform near the top of the Monument reached by a narrow winding staircase of 311 steps with great views of the city of London.

St. Paul's Cathedral Church – This Anglican Cathedral was the location of the Fairytale Wedding of the Century of Prince Charles and Lady Diana in 1981.

Sitting waiting for the Choral Evensong Services to begin facing the High Altar.

We attended the Choral Evensong Services at St. Paul's Cathedral – Led almost entirely by music from the choir singing the psalms for that day. The Services take place in the stalls of the quire near the high altar. I snuck in a few pics during the services.

Facing the Choir which includes students from St. Paul's Cathedral School – The music was heavenly!

One of the Women Priest Leading the Service – The Church of England began ordaining women as priests in 1994.

St. Paul's High Altar – Designed by Sir Christopher Wren of four pillars of Greek marble under a magnificent Baldacchino.

The Willow Walk Pub – We walked in and sat down for quite awhile without getting any table service but saw many around us getting service. We didn't understand that you had to order your food from their Table Service App only available from your phone! Guess this is the new way to eat in Restaurants!

THE WILLOW WALK

Willow Walk was originally the causeway across the marshy ground leading to Westminster Abbey. By the 18th century, the causeway had been replaced by the tree-lined thoroughfare called Willow Walk, in the area which was to become known as Victoria.

We returned to Westminster Cathedral for Sunday Mass. The Throne at the High Altar is the Archbishop's Throne copied from St. John Lateran's in Rome.

Death of Cardinal Cormac Murphy O'Connor – September 1, 2017 – Archbishop of Westminster from 2000 to 2009. He was buried in Westminster Cathedral under the 10th Station of the Cross because he was the 10th Archbishop of Westminster. He was named Cardinal in 2001.

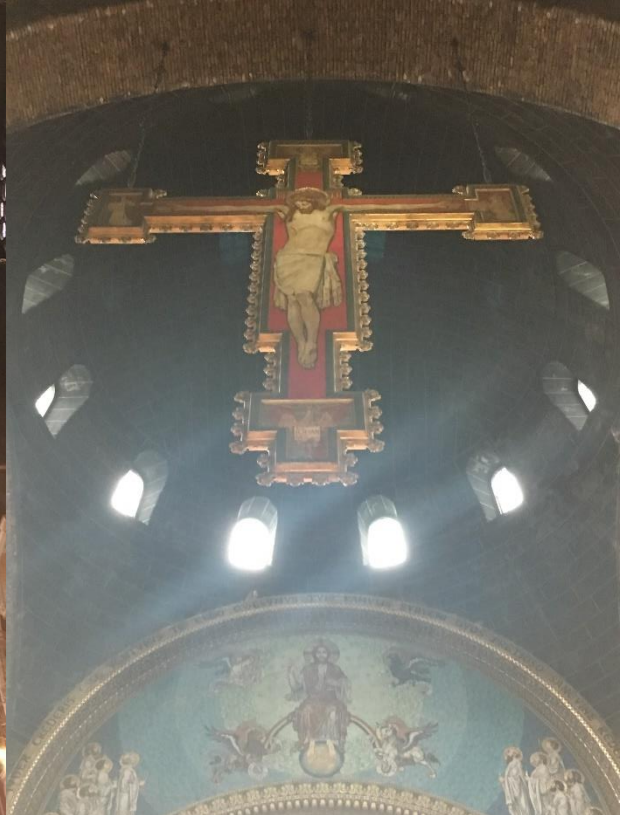

We Signed the Memorial Book on Behalf of Babin Family from the Diocese of Houma Thibodaux, La, USA

Our friend Kristen, who once lived near here in London, recommended we view the backside of the rather large wooden cross hanging suspended in the sanctuary above the altar at Westminster Cathedral. She didn't tell us what it had, just that we "had to see it" from behind!

Front of Cross

Back of Cross – Thanks for the great tip Kristen!!!
